The Learning Community for Person Centered Practices envisions a world where all people have positive control over the lives they have chosen for themselves. Our efforts focus on people who have lost or may lose positive control because of society’s response to the presence of a disability. We foster a global learning community that shares knowledge for that purpose.
Person Centered Thinking

Person Centered Thinking
➢ Underlies and guides respectful listening which leads to actions, resulting in people who:
  – Have positive control over the life they desire and find satisfying;
  – Are recognized and valued for their contributions (current and potential) to their communities; and
  – Are supported in a web of relationships, both natural and paid, within their communities

Person Centered Thinking Skills Are:
➢ A set of skills that reflect and reinforce values that:
  – Propel the learning cycle
  – Help us support rather than fix
  – Work for humans
  – Work at every level in the organization
  – Build the culture of learning, partnership, and accountability
  – Affirm our belief that everyone can learn

Think Purpose First

NOT JUST BETTER PAPER
A Core Concept and a Core Skill

Balancing Important to and Important for

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Important TO</th>
<th>Important FOR</th>
</tr>
</thead>
</table>
| What is important to a person includes those things in life which help us to be satisfied, content, comforted and happy. It includes:
  - People to be with/relationships
  - Things to do
  - Places to go
  - Rituals or routines
  - Rhythm or pace of life
  - Status & control
  - Things to have | What is important for a person includes:
  - Issues of health:
    - Prevention of illness
    - Treatment of illness / medical conditions
    - Promotion of wellness (e.g.: diet, exercise)
  - Issues of safety:
    - Environment
    - Well being - physical and emotional
    - Free from Fear
  - What others see as necessary to help the person:
    - Be valued
    - Be a contributing member of their community |
| It includes what matters most to the person – their own definition of quality of life.

  What is important to a person includes only what the person “says”:
  - with their words
  - with their actions | When words and actions are in conflict, listen to action. Ask why?

  What others see as necessary to help the person:
  - Be valued
  - Be a contributing member of their community |

The Balance Between Important To and Important For

What is Important To a person is based on what they say with their words and/or behaviors. When words and behaviors are in conflict we need to pay attention to the behaviors and ask WHY.

Important To and Important For Are Connected

- Important to and important for influence each other
- No one does anything that is “important for” them (willingly) unless a piece of it is “important to” them

Balance is dynamic (changing) and always involves tradeoffs:
  - Among the things that are “important to”
  - Between important to and for

It is not about being Happy OR Healthy, Satisfied OR Safe.
It is about being Happy AND Healthy, Satisfied AND Safe
What is Important To

How to best support
